B. G. WILDER & CO.,
PATENTEES AND MANUFACTURERS OF THE BEST FIRE PROOF SAFE IN THE WORLD!!
JEWELERS' and BANKERS' SAFES made to Order, Lined with Hardened Steel.
HOUSE AND PLATE SAFES.

TO THIS CELEBRATED SAFE was awarded the GOLD MEDAL, at the World's Fair in London, in 1851.

NOTICE.—This celebrated Fire Proof safe is no longer made and sold by SILAS C. HERRING, his license to make and sell them having expired.

The thousands of Certificates from Merchants, Bankers and Mechanics of all trades, that have been given in favor of this the only true "SALAMANDER" renders it useless for the subscribers to multiply words in its favor, as full thirty thousand of "WILDER'S PATENT SALAMANDER SAFES," have been manufactured and sold in the United States; and, in almost every large fire that has taken place during the last seventeen years, these Safes have been subjected to the severest tests, and not one of the 'Genuine Salamanders" has ever been destroyed.

Safes sold at New York price, with the freight to Wilmington added. No commission charged in Wilmington. We are prepared to take orders for these celebrated Safes. Samples can be seen at our office in a few days.

The Convention--The Washington Mission.

The sketch which our Reporter gives of the debate in the Convention, on Saturday, upon the Resolutions of Mr. McDonald, of Moore, heretofore published in this paper, assigns Mr. Dick a role of inconsistencies which it is marvellous that one man could have played. While there is much in his reported remarks that is patriotic, and just, and manly, and that commands our warmest sanction—especially his unqualified endorsement of President Johnson's policy,—there are other portions which smack strongly of a spirit, of which we had hoped that Mr. Dick had entirely divested himself.

The late hour, at which we received the proceedings of the Convention, precludes any extended notice of them this morning. But we cannot reconcile Mr. Dick's declaration that "the resolutions embodied the true object for which the Convention had assembled" with his own agency in putting it upon the track of indiscriminate local legislation. When he very properly contends that we cannot remain idle spectators of the conflict between the President and Congress, and cannot remain neutral in the struggle, we do not comprehend how he can favor the adoption of resolutions which propose a mission to that same Congress, and a consultation with those very men whom he stigmatizes as "Radical fanatics."

But we will allude further to this debate as it progresses.

The remarks of Mr. Richardson and of Mr. Clark are described, by those who heard them, as having been all that they should have been.

"But the Governor assails the test oath, which is a law of the land, and says:

"If no member can be received from the States lately in rebellion, without taking the Congressional test oath, it will amount to practical distranchisement.

"Here is a loyal Governor, who flies right in the face of the national government, and tells that government that, in defiance of the constitution, it is deliberately disfranchising sovereign States; and that he, this loyal Governor, does not recognize one of the laws of Congress And what is more, he sets himself up against the President whom he professes to support, for the President and Mr. Seward have declared over and over again, that the States must send members who can take the oath."—Standard, May 29th.

Now let us look a little into this matter: Holden was the only one of the Provisional Governors who did not take this test oath, and, as all the others did take it, the conclusion forces itself upon the mind that it was likewise expected of Holden to do so, but why he did not take it, let him answer for himself. This test oath, which he would now have the readers of the Standard to believe is all right, and that Gov. Worth is all wrong and disloyal for saying will practically disfranchise the States lately in rebellion, on his return from Washington City, about twelve months ago, he declared, through its columns, must be modified, as our people could not take it—that he himself, the faithful among the faithless, could not take it! But President Johnson appointed Mr. Holden Provisional Governor of North Carolina, notwithstanding he did not take this test oath, because, as we now have reason to know, he could not take it. It is, therefore, in evidence that President Johnson did not require of his Provisional Governor to take this oath as a necessary proof of loyalty to the government and of faithfulness to the laws of the country; and we do not believe, for one moment, that he would require any such test of the Representatives to Congress from the States lately in rebellion, when they had been duly and properly elected by the people, and were known to be at present loyal to the government.

Moreover, we defy the Standard to show that President Johnson has anywhere said, much less "declared over and over again, that the States must send members who can take this test oath." Mr. Holden says he could not take it; in fact, that scarcely any of our people could do so, unless it was modified; while Mr. Seward informs the Congress of the United States that Mr. Holden was the only one of the Provisional Governors that did not take it. Yet President Johnson appointed him Provisional Governor of North Carolina, to reorganize that subjugated State, and continued him in office until that work, in his estimation, was accomplished.—Now we contend that President Johnson would never have appointed him to that responsible office if he had not considered him loyal and true. And, therefore, we further contend that President Johnson does not regard the ability to take this Congressional test oath as the only satisfactory evidence of loyalty to the government and of a willingness faithfully to obey the laws of the country; and, therefore, also, we contend that President Johnson does not require "that the States must send members who can take this test oath."

Does the Standard comprehend this matter? Or does Holden believe that it requires less of loyalty to the government, and of faithfulness to the Constitution and laws of the country, to be the Provisional Governor to reorganize a subjugated State, than to be a member of Congress duly elected by the people from such State, after it has been reorganized? We should like to know.

The Mask Removed.

We have heretofore classed the Standard with the opponents of President Johnson's policy and in favor of Radical measures. It has attempted to escape this classification by denial and inuendo. In the last issue, it throws off the mask, and endorses out and out the Radical programme of the U. S. Senate. The following is an analysis of that programme. It proposes the amendment of the Constitution of the U. S. in the following particulars:

1. It declares every native born person in the United States, without regard to color, not only a citizen of the United States, but of the State in which he resides, and affords constitutional license for the Civil Rights bill, which President Johnson has vetoed and pronounced unconstitutional—thus ignoring almost every vestige of the rights of the States.

2. It changes the basis of representation to the number of actual voters in each State—thus denying representation to females and minors, and providing for a state of things to force upon the South universal negro suffrage or the alternative of a meagre representation.

3. It disfranchises every man in the South who has at any time taken the oath as a member of Congress or an officer of the U. S., or in any capacity, and afterwards gave aid and comfort to the revolution, but provides that a vote of two-thirds of the Congress may hereafter remove the disability.

The other amendments secure the payment of the debt of the U. S. in suppressing the revolution, and prohibit the payment of any debt or loss entailed by it upon the South.

All this the Standard is ready to gulp down as a further sacrifice and humiliation, to pacify the very men and the very party which did most to bring on the revolution. Nay, it calls upon the Convention, though the Congress in its action ignores Conventions altogether, to adopt these measures in advance of the Congress, to prove its readiness to "eat all the dirt" that Congress may order us to do.

Hear the Standard:

"The question therefore is, whether certain persons shall be excluded from office and the Union shall be restored; or whether, on account of these persons, and because we may not want to exclude them from office, we are to remain indefinitely out of the Union. The people cannot hesitate one moment as to their choice in this matter. The chaff is to be separated from the wheat; and if any of the wheat should be about to be blown off with the chaff, Congress will interpose as chief winnower and save every sound grain.

It is our deliberate opinion that the above terms are the very best the Southern States can obtain. If these terms should be rejected, heavier and more stringent terms will be required. Delay in this matter will be dangerous.

It is provided by the Constitution that amendments thereto may be ratified by the Legislatures or by Conventions of the States, "as the one or the other mode of ratification may be proposed by the Congress." If Conventions, as well as Legislatures, should be allowed to ratify, our Convention now in session might at once ratify the foregoing amendments, and thus take the lead in the great work of restoration."

Now, let it be borne in mind, that the advocates of this measure in this State profess to be friends of President Johnson and his policy, and yet propose in advance to accept of Radical measures. President Johnson has emphatically declared his opposition to those measures. He has distinctly enunciated that Radicalism and Johnsonism cannot ride in the same coach, that he who is not for him and his measures is against him, against the Constitution, against the Union, and against the peace and quiet of the nation.

The Standard implores the Convention to act promptly and to act in advance of the Radicals. The Convention is already kindling the fires of dissatisfaction and discontent in the State, by its persistence in ordinary legislation. Let it not raise to a flame that discontent by any action which stultifies and degrades the people of the State.

The President authorized the call of the Convention to restore the State to her former condition, according to the programme he had laid down, and which he certainly had the right to make, as the chief of the nation. The people endorsed it that far and no farther. He authorized no Convention to adopt radical measures—measures unknown to the Constitution.—This proposition of the Standard betrays the design of those of the Convention who sympathize with the Ex. Prov. Governor, in refusing to adjourn. They design to force upon the Convention the endorsement of radical measures.—Will the people of North Carolina bear that? Will the people endorse the Convention, if it adopts such a course? No! No!! They have twice condemned W. W. Holden and his "strait sect," radical policy. They will condemn it again, and in terms "unmistakably loyal," and with a vim! Mark what we say.

The Fenian Movement.

We confess that, hitherto, we have had but little confidence in the Fenian movement. We have been at a loss, indeed, which most to be amused at,—the supposed undue apprehension of the English people and government or the seeming bravado and hectoring of the Fenian leaders. The present indications, however, point to results of the most grave, and serious character, and any moment may witness a collision of arms.

How far the British government may regard the invasion of its soil by armed citizens of the United States as a casus belli remains to be seen. The Federal Goverement, by its repeated admonitions to England, during the late revolution, recognized such a proceeding, or a similar one, distinctly as such.

WHAT THE PRESIDENT THINKS OF THE NEW PROPOSED AMENDMENT.—The Senatorial programme is a play for the Radical game under a new lead. The Radicals have resorted to strategy; they have surrendered some of their most objectionable principles, but it has been done to retain power. Parleying with them is simply manœuvering; if they send out a flag of truce it is not with any intention to capitulate, but a ruse to gain time and obtain some advantage while the firing ceases. We know that enemy too well to be deceived by any such tactics. —National Republican (official).

Southern vs. Northern Radicals.

It is not difficult, in view of their surroundings, and of the political considerations which influence and control them, to understand the motives by which the Radicals of the North are actuated. We may despise their malignity and vindictiveness,—we may be shocked at their utter want of generosity, magnanimity or humanity,—we may stand amazed at their political depravity,—but we can at least see, in their greed of power and party ascendancy, the reasons for their conduct.

With the bulk of their sympathizers at the South,—if the term bulk be not inapplicable to a faction contemptible in numbers as well as character,—the case is different. How men, as a general rule, whose interests, social, pecuniary, and political, are identified with those of the section in which they reside, can look with favor upon propositions, emanating from the bitter enemies of their country, which look to the disfranchisement, proscription and degradation of their own friends and neighbors, is a moral mystery which passes our comprehension. Such men are entitled to far less of respect or consideration than even the Jacobin malignants of New England itself.

In the case, however, of some few of these sympathizers, the problem is not so difficult of solution. Having already, by their previous course of intolerance and faithlessness to their own people, forfeited their regard and confidence,—having already deeply and justly incurred their detestation and contempt,—they can only expect to rise again as the Radical wheel, upon which they have tied their carcases, shall revolve and raise them. It is only when the mass of their fellow-citizens shall have been driven from the ballot-box and franchise shall have been exclusively committed to an insignificant squad of scorcheads, that they can expect to get at the "flesh-pots" for which their greedy souls hanker. They care not a groat for the esteem, countenance or respect of their own people. To attain the ends of an unholy and unselfish ambition, they are ready to lend a helping hand in the work which is to ruin proscribe and degrade them.

The Sufferings of the Union Men.

The article to which Judge Brooks refers below was written after hearing the statements of gentlemen, who related what they had heard in conversations upon the subject. They were in no wise officially connected with the matter.—It was penned without the knowledge or suggestion of any person officially cognizant of the facts. We, therefore, cheerfully give place to Judge Brooks' correction. We submit, however, that the correction in no wise invalidates our position, that no one in this State, since the surrender, has been persecuted on account of his Union principles. They must have done something which they had no right to do, and which was wicked and unlawful, if in any case a disposition has been manifested by our people to have them punished.

For the Sentinel.

RALEIGH, June 1st., 1866.

MESSRS EDITORS:—Please correct a slight mistake you have inadvertently made, in that part of your editorial in the Sentinel of today, wherein you refer to the report recently made by me to Gov. Worth.

You represent me as having reported to the Governor that one of the petitioners, referred to, had been indicted in Camden for larceny.—The offence charged is retailing without a license.

It is but fair to the petitioners, referred to, that I should here state, that the investigations made by me induced the belief that efforts had been made to indict many of the petitioners for offences of the character of those mentioned in the petition; that these efforts were attended by such circumstances as induced the petitioners to believe that many of them were so indicted—and at the time the petition was preferred they did believe it.

Yours very respectfully,

G. W. BROOKS.

The Baltimore Ladies--The Fund for This State.

To correct an impression which has got abroad, that the Governor has been made the agent to receive and distribute the money raised and set apart for this State, by the benevolent ladies of Baltimore, we are requested by the Governor to say, that he was not asked to receive and distribute the money, but only to present his views as to whether it should be sent, in part or in whole, in provisions, and as to the best plan of distribution. He immediately answered, but was informed by the agent of these ladies, some two weeks afterward, that his answer, by reason of some mail detention, did not reach its destination till the ladies had decided on their plan of distribution, and sent forward a part or all to their agents in this State. He is not informed of the particulars of the plan, or the names of the agents.

Our friends insist, that we shall not disturb ourself at the personal abuse of the Standard.—We beg them to give themselves no concern about us. We have no idea of following in its course. If that paper will cease its attacks upon the loyalty of our people—will show itself to be a true Union and North Carolina paper—will cease its counsels to them to "eat more dirt," and assume, even for the nonce, a little generosity, a little magnanimity, towards its own people, we will agree never to allude to it unkindly. As to its attacks upon us, we shall not notice them. They are beneath our contempt.

STATE CONVENTION.

ADJOURNED SESSION.

SATURDAY, June 2nd. 1866.

The Convention was called to order at ten o'clock A. M.

Prayer by Rev. Mr. Hudson, of the Methodist Church.

The Journal of yesterday was read and approved.

Mr. Wright, from a select committee, reported back an ordinance to amend the charter of the Governor's Creek Steam Transportation and Mining Company, recommending its passage, with an amendment.

Mr. Caldwell, of Guilford, from the Finance Committee, reported back a resolution to pay the commissioners appointed to prepare a code for the government of Freedmen, recommending its passage.

Mr. Moore, of Wake, from the committee on Revision of the Constitution, reported a substitute for the ordinance to create the office of Lieutenant Governor—recommending its incorporation in the amended Constitution. [The substitute retains the substantial provisions of the original ordinance.]

Mr. Satterthwaite introduced a resolution in favor of the Principal Secretary of the Convention.

Mr. Brooks: An ordinance concerning widows, who have qualified as Executrix of the last wills and testaments of their husbands.

Mr. Faircloth: A resolution relative to the binding of Convention documents. [Authorizes the Secretary of State to have such binding done at the Asylum for the Deaf and Dumb and the Blind.] Adopted, under a suspension of the rules.

On motion of Mr. McKay, of Harnett, the ordinance to pay Provisional Judges for their services in holding Courts of Oyer and Terminer was re-committed to the Finance Committee.

Mr. Moore, of Wake, introduced an ordinance to amend the charter of the Union Mining Company, in the County of Rowan, and the charter of the Rudesill Gold Mining Company, in the County of Mecklenburg.

The rules were suspended and the ordinance passed its second reading.

Mr. Mebane moved, on its third reading, to amend the ordinance by subjecting these Companies to the payment of the usual Revenue tax, on acts of incorporation or amendment of charter.

Mr. Moore, of Wake, opposed the amendment, and Mr. Mebane withdrew it.

Mr. Wright saw no reason why these Companies should be exempted from the tax. He therefore renewed the amendment.

Mr. Brown, of Caswell, moved to lay the ordinance on the table. He was opposed to the Convention's entering upon a general course of legislation.

The amendment was then adopted, and the ordinance passed its third reading.

A resolution in relation to privies and water-closets, [abating a nuisance in the Capitol,] was adoped under a suspension of the rules.

On motion of Mr. McDonald, of Moore, the Convention proceeded to consider his resolutions, declaring what has been done, and appointing a committee to ascertain what is necessary to be done, to restore the State to the Federal Union.

On motion of Mr. McDonald, of Moore, the fourth resolution was amended by striking out the word "five" and inserting "seven."

Mr. McDonald then moved to amend the last resolution by substituting for the words "Speakers of the Senate and House of Representatives" the words "President of the Senate and Speaker of &c."

Pending this amendment,

Mr. Richardson said that he was opposed to any further concessions to radical fanaticism—to any further bending of the pliant hinges of the knee, that thrift might follow fawning. North Carolina had had enough of sackcloth and ashes. She had too long held the humiliating position of a suppliant. He moved to lay the resolutions on the table.

Mr. Dick requested, as a matter of courtesy, that the gentleman would withdraw the motion.

The motion having been withdrawn, Mr. Dick said that the resolutions embodied the true object for which the Convention was called. It was called to restore the State to the Federal Union, and it would be recreant to its duty, if it failed to accomplish this purpose or to do all in its power to effect it. We are a conquered people, and a sullen acquiescence in the conditions imposed by the victors will not suffice to restore us to the position we have lost. Great questions are crowding upon us, and we must shrink from no burthen that they may impose. A dark and bloody past is behind us, and it is hard to forget it, but we must forget the past to meet the future. That future has no safety but in the path of duty. Theoretically in the Union, practically out of it, and taxed without representation, we could not remain idle spectators of the conflict raging between the President and the Congress. We cannot be neutral. We must stand by the President. Inaction will be fatal. The stern and stubborn silence of the Southern States was naturally viewed at the North as an outcropping of the rebellion.

Mr. Dick proceeded to argue that it was the duty of the government to protect itself, and to see that the spirit of secession is utterly crushed out in North Carolina as elsewhere.—Characterizing secession as a fallacy, and deprecating consolidation as equally dangerous, Mr. Dick paid a high tribute to the patriotism of President Johnson, and urged the duty of sustaining him, by according to his reconstruction policy an earnest, cordial support.

In conclusion, Mr. Dick dwelt upon the impolicy of electing to Congress, or other high political positions, men who had held prominent posts in the Confederate armies. It is poor proof of loyalty that Unionism is regarded as a disgrace in North Carolina. He was willing to submit, in all events, to the Constitution of the United States, and await the great reaction against radical fanaticism that must ultimately occur.

Mr. Richardson again addressed the Convention, in opposition to the resolutions. He had never been a secessionist, and was behind no one in devotion to the Union. No one accorded to the President's policy a more cordial support, but he was unwilling that North Carolina should place herself in an unworthy attitude.—The State had fully complied with the requirements of the President's policy—had returned, as the prodigal, tired of transgression, to the parental mansion—had knocked at the door for admission and been rudely repulsed. No good could possibly accrue from sending a commission to Washington to consult members of Congress—to kiss the feet of Thaddeus Stevens and other political despots—to incur still further contumely and abasement. He renewed the motion to lay the resolution on the table.

On this question the yeas and nays were ordered on motion of Mr. Harris, of Rutherford.

NAYS.—Messrs. Alexander, Allen, Bagley, Baines, Baker, Barrow, Bell, Bingham, Boyden, Brown, Brooks, Bryan, Burgin, Burton, Bynum, Caldwell, of Burke, Dick, Dickey, Dockery, Ellis, Faulkner, Gahagan, Garland, Garrett, Godwin, Grissom, Harris, of Guilford, Harris, of Rutherford, Harrison, Haynes, Henry, Hodge, Jackson, Johnston, Jones, of Davidson, Jones, of Henderson, Jones, of Rowan, Joyce, King, Lash, Logan, Love, of Chatham, McCauley, McCorkle, McKay, of Harnett, McDonald, of Moore, McIvor, N. A. McLean, Nat. McLean, McLaughlin, McRae, Moore, of Chatham, Patterson, Polk, Rumley, Rush, Satterthwaite, Settle, Sloan, Smith, of Anson, Smith, of Wilkes, Spencer, of Montgomery, Starbuck, Stephenson, Stewart, Swan, Thompson, Ward, Warren, Willey, Wilson—71.

AYES—Messrs Brickell, Clark, Conigland, Faircloth, Ferebee, Furches, Love, of Jackson, Mebane, Norfleet, Pearsall, Perkins, Person, Richardson, Russell, Spencer, of Hyde, Walkup, Winburne, Winston, Wright—20.

Mr. Polk moved a reference of the resolutions to a select committee. Not agreed to.

Mr. McDonald, of Moore, addressed the Convention at length in support of the resolutions.

Mr. Clark said that the only issue presented in the resolutions was whether the Convention would endorse President Johnson's reconstruction policy or indirectly that of the Radicals in Congress. The preamble to the resolutions express the "hope that the President, (during the recess of the Convention,) would be authorized by Congress to declare the State restored to the Union." The fair, in fact, the only inference from this remarkable language is that what the President has done without the authority of Congress, he had no right do. This, in effect, is an endorsement of the position of Stevens and Sumner, that Congress has sole control of the subject of reconstruction, and endorses the President only to the extent that his policy has received Congressional sanction.

The resolutions propose to send a committee of seven to Washington City to consult with President Johnson, his Cabinet and Congress.

We have already ascertained that our action is satisfactory to the President—that we have fully met the requirements of his policy—a policy which has received the approval of a majority of the Cabinet.

This being the case, the only object must be to consult with Congress, ignoring alike the President and his policy.

Mr. Clark here adverted to the impracticability—the absurdity of any attempt to consult Congress in an organized capacity, and asked if the Convention thought that any commission, representing North Carolina, would be admitted to the floor of either House of Congress as a co-ordinate branch of the government?

The only way in which consultation could be had with Congress would be by interviews with individual members—and upon these no Judicious action could be based.

The advocates of the resolution had indulged in elegant diction, chaste and eloquent generalities, many of which he was prepared to endorse, but they had strangely failed to speak to the subject-matter contained in the resolutions.

In conclusion, Mr. C. spoke warmly and enthusiastically in favor of the President's policy, and cautioned members of the Convention against arraying themselves, directly or indirectly, against it by passing these resolutions. The policy of the President was based upon the Constitution, and to it alone could we look for a preservation of our rights under the Constitution in our present unhappy condition.

In this connection, he cited the declaration of President Johnson, that rebellion could exist elsewhere than under ordinances of secession, and bade the Convention beware, lest they by their action should give encouragement to the radicals, who were seeking to subvert the Constitution.

At the instance of Mr. Conigland, Mr. Jones, of Rowan, moved a reconsideration of the vote by which the Convention refused to refer the resolutions to a select Committee.

The motion prevailed and the resolutions were referred.

The President appointed the following Committee, viz: Messrs. Polk, McDonald, of Moore, N. A. McLean, McGehee, Boyden, Buxton and Winston.

The Convention then adjourned until ten o'clock on Monday next.

Honors to the Dead.

On the 31st. ult., agreeably to pre-arrangement, the sacred and touching ceremonies incident to the dressing and floral adornment of the graves of the Confederate dead that lie buried in Hollywood Cemetery, Richmond, were carried into effect. The papers of that city contain extended and glowing accounts of the exercises upon the occasion, in which it is said that between twenty and thirty thousand persons, of both sexes, participated. The Whig says:

"It was not only a holiday, but a day of sincere heart-exercises. The day was devoted to but one object—that of honoring the dead.—Every other purpose, every other thought seemed to be excluded from the mind. Old and young of both sexes gave themselves up to this one single sacred object. The stores were all closed, and private business of all kinds was suspended. At an early hour the streets were thronged, and preparations for the solemn festival were discerned in every quarter of the town. A continuous stream of ladies, children and men took its course toward Hollywood, and did not cease until the shades of evening began to gather. With singular good taste there was just organization enough to secure order and decorum, without interfering with the private wishes and feelings of the people. All useless and irksome ceremonies were dispensed with. Those who engaged in the observances were left pretty much free to do as they preferred. The day was appropriately, quietly, reverently spent under the sylvan shade, beneath which repose those who were dear to us in life, and are not forgotten in death.

Every garden in and adjacent to the city, every bush on which grew a flower or an evergreen, was made tributary to the general demand. It was one great May festival in honor of the dead. We are pleased to be enabled to say that the occasion passed off without any unpleasant accompaniments. The details are given at length in our local columns."

EPISCOPAL STATE CONVENTION.—The State Convention of the Episcopal Church, diocese of North Carolina, convened in this city yesterday morning, when it was found that a quorum was not present, whereupon the Convention adjourned until 4 o'clock, p. m.

Morning prayer was said by Rev. Messrs. Cheshire and Watson.

The Communion service was said by Rev. Dr. Mason, assisted by the Rector, Rev. C. M. Forbes, Rev. Messrs. Cheshire and Watson assisting in the administration of the elements.

At 4 o'clock, p. m., the members having reassembled, a quorum was found present, and the Convention was organized and proceeded to business.

The Bishop's Address was read. A portion of it concerning the spiritual care of the colored population was referred to a special committee. A similar disposition was made of another portion relative to the division of the diocese or the appointment of an Assistant Bishop.

The next annual meeting was appointed to be held at St. James' church, Wilmington, the time the third Wednesday in May.

Rev. Mr. Hilliard, of Edenton, preached last night, and evening prayer will be said every evening during the week, at a quarter to eight o'clock, seats free.—Newbern Commercial.

COPY RIGHT SECURED.

"A Calendar for the Christian Era, combining the Julian and Gregorian modes of reckoning time, by James Rumley, of N. C.

The subscriber having copy-righted this most valuable of all the "Calendars" ever before offered to the public, will be prepared in a few days to supply the demand for them to any extent.

Many attempts have been made, from time to time, to secure a Calendar, by which all the dates of the Christian Era could be accurately, and at the same time readily, found. These attempts have heretofore signally failed because the authors have sought to condense too much, and because they were really not conversant with the subject of which they treated, and which they vainly endeavored to elucidate.

I claim for the Calendar now presented, perfect simplicity of arrangement, combined with the most infallible accuracy. The plan is so simple that any one who can use an ordinary Almanac, or Counting House Calendar, cannot fail to see clearly into the working of this. Time past, present or future can be immediately found. Its accuracy will bear the test of the most rigid scrutiny. I invite criticism, and confidently appeal to an enlightened public judgment for a frank expression of opinion as to its merits.

To supply a want long felt, the author has appended to the Calendar, under the head of "Explanatory Remarks," a succinct, but most valuable history of the Julian Calendar from the time of Julius Cæsar, and of the astronomical errors which led to the change made by Pope Gregory XIII., in 1582. These notes alone are worth the price of the Calendar.

If any object to the space the Calendar occupies, the objection is answered by the reply that any attempt at condensation would be a sacrifice of simplicity, the rock on which every previous attempt has been stranded.

Every professional man, every mechanic and farmer, all merchants and tradesmen should supply themselves with copies, at once. Price $1.

TRIAL OF MAJOR JOHN H. GEE.

SYNOPSIS OF TESTIMONY.

Reported by George J. Manson, Stenographer.

FIFTY FIRST DAY.

SATURDAY, May 19, 1866.

Testimony of Gen. Bradley T. Johnson, concluded.

Q. Can you tell anything about the amount of bread that was issued to them?

A. I am very confident, sir, that they received their pound of bread a day a piece; I am confident that was issued to them there; and I am certain that the provisions were distributed upon the fairest method that could be arranged.

Q. Can you speak as to the amount of meat?

A. No sir; I am confident of this: That there was no distinction made between the guard and the prisoners, because that was a matter of consultation.

Q. (Pointing to page—) Is that the order under which Morfitt acted?

A. Yes sir.

Q. Supposing a staff officer stationed at Salisbury, and the commanding officer of the post, wanted articles from him and he made his requisition and it was not filled, what recourse would he have.

A. He would prefer charges against him and report him to the authorities at Richmond.

Q. If he did not, he would not do his duty?

A. I do not know about that; that would depend on circumstances. I think it would be his duty, when such an officer does not do his duty, to put him under charges. If I put charges against him I must prove all that neglect to do his duty, which would be difficult to do. If it was manifest gross neglect on his part, I would not be doing my duty if I did not make charges against him.

Q. Did Major Gee occupy the same position at Salisbury that you did; did you relieve him from being Post Commandant when you went there?

A. Yes sir, I did.

Q. And he exercised the same authority that you did?

A. No sir, he did not by a great deal; he did not, because I commanded the troops there and Morfitt and Major Gee and everybody else.

Q. Did you command Maj. Morfitt any more than Maj. Gee commanded him?

A. I only commanded him in this way: that if Maj. Morfitt did not obey my command, I would have sent him to Richmond.

Q. Why could not Maj. Gee do that?

A. Because Maj. Morfitt was a senior officer in rank to him.

Q. If he had had the authority to order him it would not make any difference about his rank?

A. That was the trouble we were having there; the Quartermaster General would not decide against Morfitt, and Gardner would not decide, as I understand, against Gee.

Q. If there had been room in the hospitals outside of the prison for any of the patients inside of the prison, could they have been transferred there by your order?

A. Well, sir, I rather think they could not. I would not like to say about that, because I only know of one way of getting a man in the hospital, and that is the regular course of a Medical board, and I do not see how a prisoner of war could have gone through in that way.—I do not suppose I would have been allowed to do it; if I had done it, my impression is I would have been ordered to take them out. The question was never tried.

Q. These 5000 prisoners, were they prisoners of war who arrived in October 1864 in addition—who had been taken from Sherman's army?

A. No sir; there were none of any amount; I think I could say not 100 had been taken from Sherman; I do not remember any at all.

Q. How long were those prisoners leaving there?

A. I do not think but three days. The first lot went in a train through to Danville and from there went to Richmond. I could not get a train to carry them, and a train came up which I impressed; the second one I took from Wilson off the Western North Carolina road, and one off the North Carolina road, which was sent me and loaded up, and while the sick ones were being loaded up the well ones were being marched off. That was on the 22nd. of February 1865.

Q. How far was it from the prison to the creek?

A. I never walked the distance, sir; I suppose 500 yards.

Q. How many men do you think crossed at the water-gate?

A. I do not know, sir.

Q. What would have been the difficulty of placing a double row of guard down there and letting the prisoners go for water?

A. With fifty soldiers I could have made a line for all the prisoners, but I did not have fifty soldiers fit to have done it; I mean if they had been able to obey orders; I suppose one man ought to command a line of 120 yards long; I should think fifty would have been an abundance, but Col: Hoke's men would not have done.

Q. But at this time there were not 3,000 men who could walk?

A. Yes, sir; there were many more than that; great many who went on the cars were well.

Q. You would not have considered it safe to have put all the soldiers on guard from the prison to the creek?

A. That would have depended on the humor of the prisoners; there were no safe muskets there.

RE-DIRECT EXAMINATION.

Q. Out of that number of 2,500 men that you sent, how many do you think were absolutely sick?

A. I could not say.

Q. After you had made this answer and had seen this order, is your opinion changed that Major Morfit was not under Major Gee's orders: do you still think that Major Morfit was not under Major Gee's orders?

A. The fact was Morfit states he was absolutely not under Major Gee's orders. He would issue an order to keep Gee out of the workshops and not let him have anything done there without his orders.

BY THE COURT.

Q. What objection would there have been to have paroled those men to have gone to the creek for water, without any guard at all?

A. I do not know about that. I think, in the first place, if I had attempted it, the whole community would have complained,—they did complain any way; they sent a committee to me to withdraw those that were paroled, though that should have had no weight with me; if I had allowed men to go out on parole, as soon as they got back they would have been discharged from the parole.

Q. If those men were actually suffering for water, what reason was it they could not go to the creek for water?

A. That was one reason.

Q. What objection was there to have put 100 men of Freeman's Battallion on guard?

A. Because there was not 100.

Q. Were there forty?

A. I do not suppose, every day.

Q. Why could not forty men have been on duty four hours during the day?

A. According to my recollection thirty were on duty all day long.

Q. What was the reason that this thirty or forty could not have been placed along the line?

A. I suppose the reason was that the men were not there; there were not forty; it would have required 120. You could not put them on duty until every third day, and there were not 120 who could be spared for that specific purpose. I considered Freeman's Battallion on a par with other soldiers; they were young men; they would have done if you had put a double line out there.

Q. Do you know what became of the prisoners who enlisted in York's command?

A. No sir.

Q. Were any of them included in that 5200 that were exchanged?

A. Yes sir, 380 odd I think were; it was a voluntary operation; "if you choose to enlist you can, and if you do not you can go to your own people;" that was the idea.

Q. How many enlisted from your command?

A. I do not know; he had got a great many up to the time the general exchange was declared; when that was declared, those who wanted to remain could do so, and only one remained. They were counted in the 5200; when they came back they were counted in the 5200.

Q. Were any of those that were termed Yankee deserters received with the prisoners in October; were any of those counted in?

A. No sir; they were not included in the cartel of exchange; some were sent to Texas.

Q. Was it brought to your attention at any time, officially or by reports of persons who should know, that the chiefs of squads and divisions, of hundreds and thousands, had difficulty in making their own men attend to the necessary police duties appertaining to their squads and divisions?

A. No sir, I had one or two complaints.

NEW CALENDAR.—Col. S. D. Pool announces the "copy-right secured" of a new "Calendar for the Christian era, containing the Julian and Gregorian modes of reckoning time." This Calendar has been gotten up by James Rumley, Esq., of Beaufort, and is the result of much labor, research and thought. We have seen a copy of this Calendar, and have been greatly impressed with its wonderful ingenuity and adaptation. We have tested its accuracy in a variety of forms, and pronounce it faultless in its computations. We shall notice it further, hereafter.

FIRE.—The building, in the Western Ward of this City, in the vicinity of the N. C. Railroad Depot, formerly known as the "Wayside Hospital," but latterly occupied by Messrs. J. J. Williams & Co., was entirely destroyed by fire on Friday night last. We learn that none of the contents of the building were saved, but that there was insurance on them to the amount of $2,000.

The policy of insurance was taken out in the Atlantic Fire Insurance Co., of Brooklyn, and issued by P. F. Pescud, Agent, of this City.

FRANKLINTON ACADEMY.—The annual exercises attending the termination of the Spring Session of this excellent literary institution came off on Friday.

A large number of the ladies and gentlemen of the village, and of the surrounding country, were present, who testified a lively interest in the pleasing incidents of the occasion and in the cause of education.

The examination of the students, and other exercises, occupied a day or two previous to Friday, and that day was principally devoted to declamation and recitations by pupils of both sexes. This declamation was of a high order of merit, evincing great appreciation on the part of the scholars and a rare talent for instruction in that important department upon the part of the teacher.

The annual Literary Address was delivered by Seaton Gales, Esq., of this City.

The Principal of the Institution, J. W. Neal, Esq., is an instructor of ripe experience and ability, and, as such, enjoys a deservedly high reputation. In addition to the ordinary adjuncts of a first-class Academy, he has a valuable Philosophical apparatus with which to illustrate the charms and truths of that delightful science. We are glad to learn that the prospects of the Academy, which is under the management of an efficient board of Trustees, are of a flattering nature, and we trust that its next session will be resumed under still more encouraging auspices. The community in which it is located is renowned for its intelligence and hospitality.

To the Principal and his lady, to the students and to many citizens, the Associate Editor of this paper returns his thanks for numerous courtesies.

Funeral of Gen. Scott.

WEST POINT, June 2.

The funeral ceremonies of Lieut. Gen. Scott were of the most impressive character. Many distinguished persons were present from all sections of the country. The National, State and Municipal governments were all represented.

Fenians in Washington--Trial of Mr. Davis.

WASHINGTON, June 2.

The Fenian head-quarters for the sale of bonds have been closed for want of patronage.

The House Committee is still engaged in examining witnesses, with a view of discovering complicity in the assassination of Lincoln.

Fenians! Fenians!!

NEW YORK, June 2.

The Fenian intelligence is conflicting.

Some reports have them evacuating Fort Erie and dispersing; others, that Niagara river was filled last night with small boats carrying re-inforcements.

Buffalo despatches say that 1,500 British regulars have arrived at the Suspension Bridge, aiming to capture the Fenians, who vacated their encampment.

The U. S. gunboat Michigan is patrolling the river, with orders to sink anything attempting to cross.

Sweeney was here yesterday, but has now gone to the scene of action.

Gov. Fenton will issue a proclamation, to-day, it is said, warning citizens not to countenance the invaders and that twelve regiments of militia will be sent to the border.

Later! Fighting Begun!

TORONTO, CANADA, June 2, 10.30 A. M.

This morning a force of volunteers attacked the Fenian encampment near Ridgway, when fighting became general. A number on both sides were killed. Result yet unknown.

Still Later.

BUFFALO, 11.30 A. M.

The English troops occupy Fort Erie.

It is not known whether the reported fight at Ridgway was with the Fenians who landed yesterday at Fort Erie or with another party,—probably the former.

The report is that the English troops are retreating from Ridgway, but no particulars are given.

Export of Specie---The Markets.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.

The steamer to-day took out 3,600,000 in specie.

Cotton unchanged. Gold 40¾. Sterling dull 9¾; three days, 11.

Further Particulars about the Fenians.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 1.

The number of Fenians which effected a landing in Canada from this point is estimated at 3,000, with accessions hourly. They are well armed and have six pieces of artillery. It is stated that there will be a general descent on the whole frontier, and that the Fenians have, altogether, thirteen batteries of artillery.

The leaders have telegraphed from this point to various cities, to bring on reinforcements.—The men who have gone from here, generally, have served in the Federal or Confederate armies. No fight has occurred nor is anticipated for two days.

Obstructions to the Welland Canal, cutting the Grand Trunk Railway, and moving in two divisions on Montreal and Kingston, is said to be the programme.

Col. O'Neil leads the troops from here. He is styled the commander of the Army of the Irish Republic in Canada. Gen. Sweeney is reported to have crossed over with the main body, but this is denied. The men crossed here without difficulty, as there are no U. S. troops here. Fenians are leaving Boston, Philadelphia, New York and other cities.

TORONTO, 4½ o'clock, P. M.

There is great excitement over the rumored invasion of the Fenians. Volunteers are hurrying to the supposed scene of action. It is reported that the enemy has evacuated Fort Erie and is now marching upon Chippewa. The frontier is not invaded at any other point than the one named.

An engagement on the Niagara frontier is expected to-morrow.

New York---Wall Street--President Johnson Invited.

NEW YORK, June 1.

Nothing of importance was done in Wall street to-day. Gold to a limited extent sold at 40¾ to 41. Stocks were neglected.

A large number of the prominent merchants and business men of New York have extended an invitation to President Johnson to visit New York some time in June, at his convenience, and it is understood that no political significance attaches to the invitation, New York gentlemen being merely desirous of tendering to the President a public reception and introducing to him the people of the city.

Cholera at Quarantine.

NEW YORK, June 1.

The Cholera at Quarantine is said to be of a most malignant type and is principally confined to the German passengers. Eighty-four cases have been admitted on board of the hospital ship Falcon, out of which number 14 have died, leaving 70 patients, at last accounts, under treatment.

A Revenue cutter is shortly to be stationed in the lower bay for the protection of the Quarantine vessels, and to prevent passengers detained there from escaping to the shore.

Have we a National Disease?

S D Wallace, Esq., President of the Wilmington & Weldon Railroad, [Aug. 30, 1865,] says: "It has been said that Dyspepsia is our national disease. However this may be, it caused me, long and severe suffering. Providentially a friend furnished me with a few boxes of the HEPATIC PILLS, and the use of them has perfected a cure. In my family they have been used frequently with eminent success. Among my acquaintances, many cases suffering from diseased liver, have been relieved and cured by them. A NEW AND GRAND EPOCH IN MEDICINE!

Dr. Maggiel is the founder of a new Medical System! The quotidianus, whose vast internal dozes enfeeble the stomach and paralyze the bowels, must give precedence to the man who restores health and superbe with from one to two of Maggiel's Extraordinary Pills, and cures the most virulent sore with a box or so of his wonderful and all-healing Salve. These two great specifics of the Doctor are fast supersecing all the ancient-typed nostrums of the day. Extraordinary cures by Maggiel's Pills and Salve have opened the eyes of the public to the inefficiency of the (so called) remedies of olden, and upon which people have so long blindly depended. Maggiel's Pills are not of the class that are swallowed by the dozen, and of which every box full taken creates an absolute necessity for another. One or two of Maggiel's Pills suffices to place the bowels in perfect order, tone the stomach, creats an appetite, and render the spirits light and buoyant. There is no griping, and no reaction in the form of constipation. If the liver is affected, its functions are restored; and if the nervous system is feeble it is invigorated. This last quality makes the medicines very desirable for the wants of delicate females. Uterous and eruptive diseases are literally extinguished by the disenfectant power of Maggiel's Salve. In fact, it is here announced that Maggiel's Bilious, Dyspeptic and Diarrhea Pills cure where all others fail. While for Burns, Scalds, Chilblains, Cuts and all eruptions of the skin Maggiel's Salve is infallible. Send by I. Maggiel, 43 Fulton Street, New York, and all Druggists, at 25 cts a parabox. WARREN, N. C.,

WHITE SULPHUR AND CHALYBEATE SPRINGS.

THE UNDERSIGNED has the satisfaction of announcing to the public, that he has leased these celebrated Springs, and that they will be opened for the reception of visitors on the first day of June ensuing.

His arrangements are of that complete and extensive character, that he will be able to accommodate a large number of guests and to offer greater attractions than usual to those who may visit

This pleasant and healthful resort.

No trouble or expense will be spared to render his patrons comfortable and satisfied.

The grounds are elegantly laid off, and the buildings are enlarged and improved.

He will have ICE, MILK, VEGETABLES, and all the substantials and delicacies of the table in profusion.

An ICE CREAM SALOON and SODA FOUNTAIN will be attached to the establishment, where those refreshments, as well as CONFECTIONERY, Fruits &c. can be always obtained.

The bar will be supplied with the finest liquors, and a billiard saloon and bowling alley, for amusement and exercise, be at the disposal of visitors.

The Medicinal Properties

Of the Sulphur water have been amply tested during many years by a large number of visitors, and its beneficial results strikingly displayed in the cure or relief of

Another Spring has been discovered in the vicinity of the establishment, an accurate scientific analysis of which [given below] proves that it is a valuable Chalybeate. It is a mild and gentle tonic and in the opinion of the physicians who have examined it, and witnessed its effects in some cases during several seasons, must prove beneficial in Atonic Dyspepsia, Chlorosis, Uterine, Nervous and Neuralgic Affections connected with Debility; and of especial service to persons living in malarious regions of country, whose blood has been robbed of its normal proportion of iron by repeated attacks of malarial fevers.

Persons travelling on the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad will always find a line of stages, under the management of Mr. Granger, ready for their accommodation at Warrenton Depot. There will be a daily mail from Warrenton to the Springs.

J. H. HOPE.

NOTICE,
OF
Importance to all whom it may concern.
—READ.—

The undersigned, Agent of the ÆTNA LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY for the State of North Carolina, would respectfully inform those who represent deceased friends, insured in this Company, to apply at my office for the settlement of Policies, as soon as they can consistently and conveniently do so.

MR. JUSTUS KINSEY'S death has been announced in our community. He was one of our most worthy citizens and active business men, and took the precaution, in time, to provide for his now sorrowing loved ones by an Insurance on his life for $5,000 in the gallant "Ætna," which has never refused to pay a loss promptly. And in this case the persons entitled to receive the amount will please present themselves and the policy at my office for payment.

Here we are furnished with an example of prudent forethought worthy of imitation by each and all who have hearts to love, and hands to provide for their dependent loved ones. The investment of $110 has provided in cash for this family.

No man should neglect a transaction so important.
